Fountain in weathered old stones with two basins and a base

This elegant central fountain, crafted from reclaimed old stones beautifully weathered by time, features a central pediment crowned with a small stone ball. It is fitted with 2 antique wrought-iron water spouts, one flowing into a basin with sloping wash-house-style copings, and the other into a smaller massive sink-like basin. This unique water feature is sold complete with 2 pairs of metallic bucket-rest bars and a thick base made of dressed stone.
