

Fountain in weathered old stones with two basins and a base

This elegant central fountain crafted in reclaimed old stones nicely weathered by time features a central pediment decorated with a small stone ball at the top and fitted with 2 old wrought iron water outlets pouring water into a basin with sloping wash-house-style copings on one side, and into a smaller massive sink-like basin on the other side. This unique fountain is sold with 2 pairs of metallic bucket-rest bars and a thick base in dressed stones.
