Antique rectangular troughs in stone

Antique stone trough with a timeless character

This antique stone trough is a long yet shallow, monolithic trough with a highly distinctive design : a large rectangular basin joined to an adjoining circular compartment. Carved from a single block of raw limestone, it can be repurposed as a flower box or planter, or even transformed into a small, antique-style fountain. A one-of-a-kind piece, sold as-is. No drainage hole(s).
